A. Kindergarten Madrasah

The Kindergarten Madrasah (DO No. 47, s 2016) was developed for schools with five-year old Muslim learners or in Muslim communities. It takes into account learners with diverse backgrounds, prior knowledge and experiences, purposes, skills, attitudes, personal traits, and interests.

1. Objectives
Consistent with the Kindergarten Education program, it aims to ensure that five-year old Muslim children achieve the standards and competencies expected of them. It seeks to promote the holistic way by which young children grow and develop, and aims to recognize the role of families and communities in supporting the child’s development.

2. Curriculum
The standards and competencies of the curriculum are aligned with the Kindergarten curriculum implemented in all public schools nationwide with relevant competencies for Muslim learners.

The curriculum integrates Islamic values and Arabic language into the Kindergarten curriculum with domains that cover (1) language, literacy, and communication; (2) socio-emotional development; (3) values development; (4) physical health and motor development; (5) creative development; (6) mathematics; and (7) understanding of the physical and natural environment.

3. Assessment
Classroom assessment aims to holistically measure learners’ current and developing abilities. Typically, the primary means of formatively assessing Kindergarten learners is through observation. This is to ensure learners’ success in moving from guided to independent display of knowledge, understanding and skills, and to enable them to transfer this successfully in future situations.

4. Teachers or asatidz
Kindergarten teachers who are trained in Arabic reading and Islamic values can teach the Kindergarten Madrasah. They must be able to integrate Islamic values into the activities of the learners. However, asatidz who pass the QEALiS and complete the LEaP may also teach Arabic language and Islamic values as separate learning areas.
5. Learning resources
   The use of relevant, culture-responsive, and developmentally appropriate teaching-learning resources is important in the implementation of this program. Learning materials and other resources that are locally developed and/or locally available is encouraged.

   The Kindergarten Madrasah is implemented by way of diverse learning activities that may be enhanced with resources that are appropriate for developing the domains, and must sustain interest in active learning.

B. ALIVE for Grades 1 to 6
   The ALIVE for Grades 1 to 6 (DO No. 40, s. 2011) consists of two components, namely: Arabic language, and Islamic values, which is in addition to their regular subjects. Schools can organize ALIVE classes for classes with 15 to 40 pupils. If a school has less than 15 Muslim learners, the school head may coordinate with the Division ALIVE Coordinator for possible collaboration with the nearest school offering ALIVE Program within the district or schools division.

1. Objectives
   The component of Arabic language aims to develop the learners’ functional literacy in Arabic that will enable them to read and understand the Holy Qur’an.

   The Islamic values component, on the other hand, aims to help learners acquire the desired Islamic values that would guide them to Core Values of the Department: to be maka-Diyos, makatao, makakalikasan, at makabansa; thereby making them agents in advocating and promoting brotherhood, peace, unity, and justice and equality.

2. Curriculum

   The ALIVE Curriculum shall be contextualized by the implementing regions and schools divisions in accordance with the K to 12 Curriculum. The Islamic Values Education subject shall be anchored on the DepEd core values of maka-Diyos, makatao, makakalikasan, at makabansa, and on the overall curriculum goal of harnessing Filipino values and citizenship to promote Filipino national identity. The history and culture of Filipino Muslims shall be integrated in the contextualization of the Madrasah Education Program.
Arabic Language is taught thrice a week for 40 minutes; while Islamic Values Education is taught twice a week for 40 minutes.

3. Assessment
Assessment of learners’ progress and achievement in ALIVE shall be in accordance with the provisions of DO No. 8, s. 2015 or the Policy Guidelines on Classroom Assessment for the K to 12 Basic Education Program. Grades shall appear in the report card, and in Forms 137 and 138 as (a) Arabic Language, and (b) Islamic Values Education.

4. Teachers or asatidz
To ensure quality and inclusive education, teachers or asatidz must pass the QEALIS and complete the LEaP to handle ALIVE classes. These asatidz may (a) be under contract of service (COS), or (b) granted a permanent position. The systematic selection, hiring, deployment, career pathing and continuing professional development of Madrasah education teachers or asatidz must be conducted through the Schools Division Office (SDO).

After passing the QEALIS, the asatidz must take the Language Enhancement and Pedagogy (LEap) Training and Arabic Emergent Reading (AER). Grants to take the Accelerated Teacher Education Program (ATEP) may be provided to enable them to obtain a Bachelor’s Degree, and take and pass the Licensure Examination for Teachers (LET).

Asatidz under COS are required to render at least 20 hours per week inclusive of the instructional preparations. However, in the exigency of service, the asatidz may render beyond 20 hours. The schedule of ALIVE classes shall be determined by the school head, based on the availability of asatidz and other resource needs. They shall be assessed in terms of their teaching performance and they must undergo a year-end evaluation process to be conducted by the teacher monitor or subject coordinator (when applicable) with the approval of the school head. Also, the renewal of contract of the COS Asatidz shall be based on the results of teacher performance appraisals.

Asatidz with permanent positions handle the ALIVE classes and may teach additional K to 12 subjects, depending on the need of the school where the teachers are deployed.

The school head shall ensure a collegial and inclusive working environment for all teachers and staff. Asatidz will participate in all other school learning activities so their involvement with the school will not be limited to the ALIVE program.

5. Learning Resources
Schools with organized ALIVE classes shall ensure the inclusive and quality implementation of the program through systematic organization of classes that is conducive to teaching and learning.

The DepEd shall provide all learners with adequate and appropriate learning materials anchored on the needs of individual learners. In addition, the teachers shall be given curriculum and teaching guides in ALIVE.

Learning materials shall be developed and reproduced at school level to complement the DepEd provided materials. These materials, both print and non-print shall promote active learning in different contexts and lifelong learning. The MEP will employ the Learning Resources Management and Development System (LRMDS) to ensure that the ALIVE instructional materials and other resources are properly managed, utilized, generated, allocated, recorded and audited.

This program implements the ALIVE component in the Alternative Learning System (ALS) program. The ALS provides basic literacy and continuing education interventions to illiterates and drop-outs, as well as ALIVE concepts for its Muslim learners.

1. Objectives
Per DO No. 57, s. 2010, ALIVE in ALS aims to provide opportunities for adult learners to develop basic and functional literacy skills and equivalent pathways to complete basic education. The inclusion of ALIVE seeks to provide additional competencies that are relevant to the needs, cultures and purposes of its target Muslim learners.

2. Curriculum
ALIVE in ALS integrates the Basic Literacy Program (BLP) and Certification and Equivalency (A&E) for Elementary and Junior High School and the ALIVE program described in item B above. The ALS/Asatidz adjust the content and competencies according to the age and experiences of the learners.

3. Assessment
The potential ALS learner must take an entry assessment to determine prior learning s/he may have. This entry or diagnostic assessment called the Functional Literacy Test
(FLT) assists the learning facilitator to set a specific learning plan to the learner. Throughout the program, learners will be assessed using various formative assessment tools used by the learning facilitator and those found in the learning modules of both ALS and ALIVE components. Learners are also asked to update learning logs and develop their portfolio based on their ILA.

ALIVE in ALS learners who seek Elementary or Junior High School level certification must successfully complete and pass the Accreditation and Equivalency (A&E) test.

Formative assessment is used to measure progress in the ALIVE component of this program.

4. Teachers or asatidz
   Regular ALS mobile teachers who have had training in ALIVE shall teach the ALS component, as well as Islamic values. However, the Arabic language component shall be taught by asatidz who qualified in the QEALIS, completed the LEaP training and attended other teacher trainings such as INSET and AER.

5. Learning resources
   The ALIVE in ALS uses learning modules that contain learning activities, and pre and post-assessments. Modules for basic levels include a facilitator’s guide, while modules for advanced levels are designed for self or independent learning. These are provided to the learners by ALS learning facilitators and the asatidz.

   Supplementary materials like print and non-print modules, self-learning instructional materials, learning activity packages, online or digital modules, textbooks, e-modules, or blended technology learning materials from the home or other sources may also be used.

D. Special Program in Foreign Language (SPFL) Arabic
   Arabic may be included as one of the options for SPFL in Junior High School starting in SY 2019-2020.
